Jennings County Tax Sale Scheduled

Jennings County will sell tax liens on delinquent properties

Jennings County, IN – [Date of PSA] – Jennings County will conduct a tax sale on Friday, September 15, 2017 for delinquent real properties that have taxes and special assessments due from the prior year's spring installment.

In Indiana, the county treasurer and auditor are required to sell tax liens on delinquent properties. Jennings County will offer these tax sale certificates at a public auction for a minimum bid that is not less than the total amount due in delinquent taxes, costs, special assessments and penalties. "The purpose of the tax sale is to offer these delinquent properties to collect back taxes to help fund local government services," explained County Auditor Kay Sue Vance. Kitty Shepherd, Jennings County Treasurer, also stated, "There are currently 432 properties available for the tax sale totaling $440,809.33 in delinquencies."

Jennings County has contracted with SRI, Inc., an Indianapolis-based company, founded in 1989, that conducts tax sales, commissioners' certificate sales, deed sales and sheriff sales for over 150 counties in Indiana, Michigan, Colorado, Louisiana and Iowa.

Persons interested in registering and bidding at the Jennings County Tax Sale should visit the SRI, Inc. website at www.sriservices.com and read the information provided regarding tax sales.
